Recent Project: Sunset Lanes

Location: Pekin, IL

Statistics:

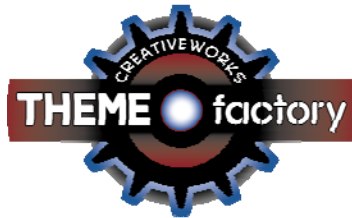

- 1,200 sq. ft. Laser Tag Arena with 1 Level

Theme: Space Quest – Sunset Lanes owner, James Keith, wanted to convert some unused existing space inside his bowling center into profitable real estate for generating additional revenues. He chose to add laser tag and even though the space was fairly small (as compared to typical laser tag centers) he wanted his guests to get the “WOW” effect just the same.

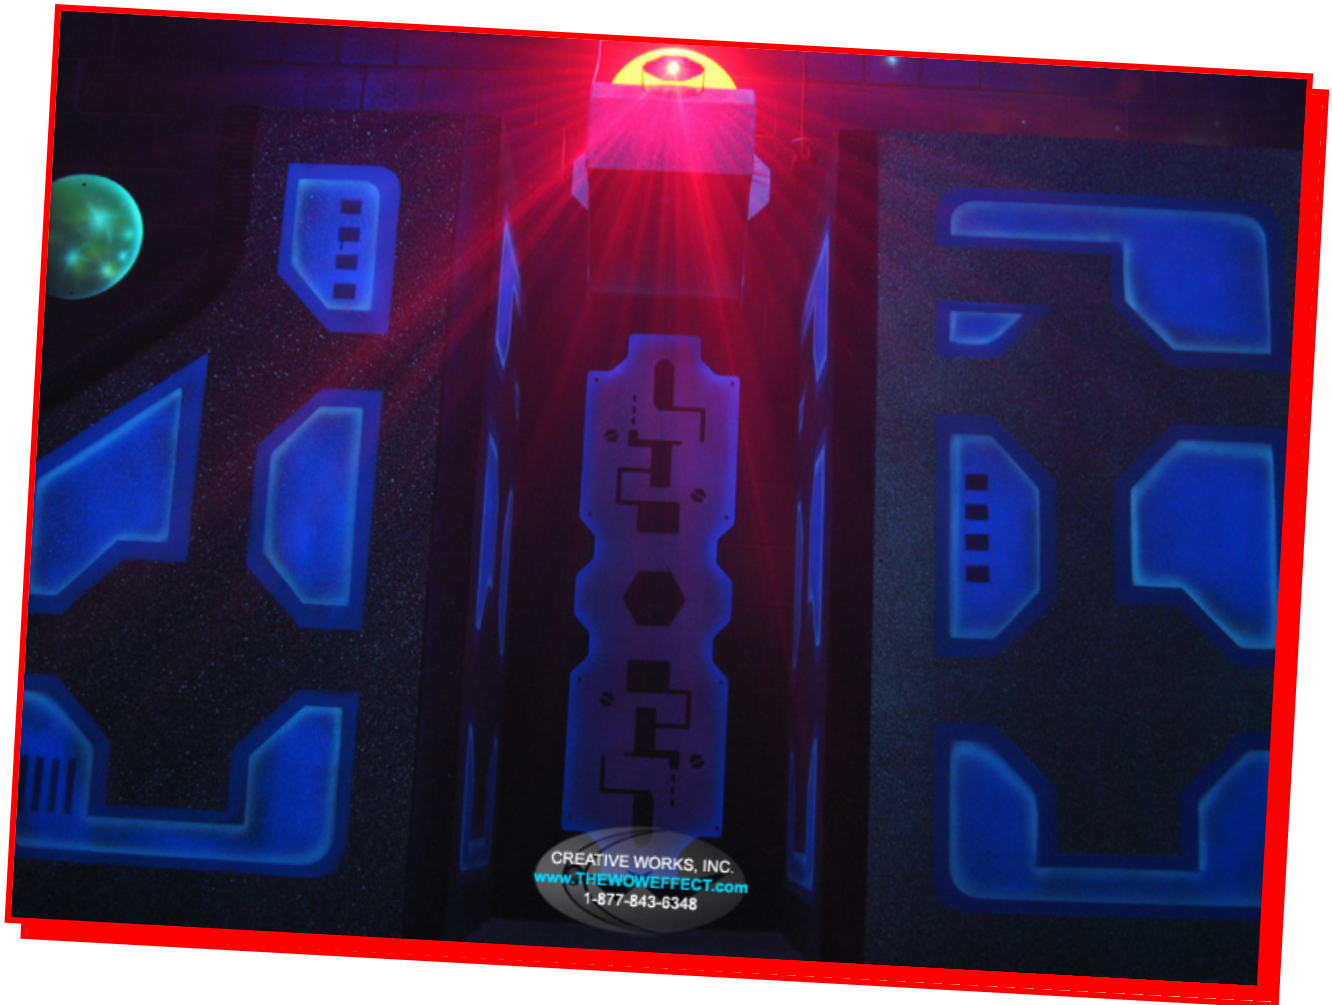

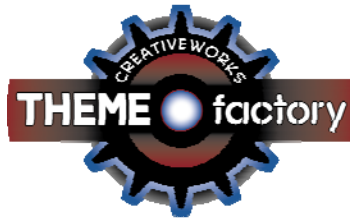

James chose to install our popular Space Quest theme as he felt his guests would be enthralled with the high-tech looking arena walls, eye-popping and expansive perimeter wall murals of planetary bodies and intense scenes of outer space, the glowing team bases, and overall special effects lighting for the overall environment. Here's how their project went...

Briefing Room – Guests enter the laser tag attraction to receive instruction and their game play scenarios inside the Briefing Room, which is themed as a space marines briefing alcove. With its bright clean geometric shapes on the walls and iron-like Mission Rules sign cutout, this room sets the tone for the rest of the experience and prepares guests for their glorious adventures throughout the galaxy.

Vesting Room – After receiving their instructions in the Briefing Room, guests are taken to the Vesting Room to suit up into their high-tech vests and prepare for their mission. Entering this room is like stepping into a live-action space movie taking place on some starship traveling across the far reaches of space. With its high-tech circuitry along the walls, glowing fluorescent carpet, and blinking laser tag equipment guests are pumped for action as they enter the laser tag arena.

The Laser Tag Arena – A myriad of corridors, cubby holes, and corners create the amazing arena maze inside this 1,200 square foot area. The arena walls stand out with their clean blue 3D geometric shapes, shoot-through holes, and angled edges. With out-of-this-world planetary murals on the perimeter walls, an awesome red laser scanner shooting its beam across the maze, and glowing domes on both team bases, guests at Sunset Lanes are sure to be “WOW”ed for years to come!
